

Flames Enjoy Home Win

Free Will Baptist Bible College	86
Johnson University	73

Using all 13 players liberally, Coach Nathan Willhite coached his Flames to an 86-73 victory over visiting Johnson University. It didn't start out that way as the Preachers took the lead midway through the first half. But the Flames ended their shooting woes with a season-high 65% from the floor, scoring almost at will, to take a nine-point half-time lead and cruise to the win.

“We finally found our shooting touch,” said Willhite. “The last few games we have struggled with our shots, so I was relieved to break the slump. I hope we continue to shoot well the rest of the season.”

Even though they only played half the game, Jake Manning and David Landers scored 25 and 21 points, respectively. Kendred Sides chipped in 18 points. Adam Gardner had a game-high eight rebounds, and Chris Davenport dished out four assists.
