Visiting Students Give FWBBC Senior Days High Marks

NASHVILLE, TN—Ten seniors from seven states attended the first of three 2011 Senior Days at Free Will Baptist Bible College, giving high marks to FWBBC students, faculty, and staff for campus-wide hospitality and for providing helpful information about enrollment procedures and financial aid, according to Rusty Campbell, director of enrollment services. The visiting seniors expressed particular appreciation for sessions with faculty advisors and a luncheon with President Matt Pinson.

The January 20-21 snow-covered event included three students from Arkansas (Russellville and Monticello), two from Tennessee (Antioch and Old Hickory), and one student each from Kansas (Lenexa), Kentucky (Ashland), Missouri (Wentzville), North Carolina (Greenville), and Ohio (Hillsboro).

“We were so delighted that 10 seniors braved a winter storm that left Middle Tennessee with ice-covered roads and dangerous traveling conditions,” said Mr. Campbell. “That says a lot for their interest in attending FWBBC and becoming part of our Christian community of faith and learning. This group of seniors showed up determined to seize the moment. They made my week!”

After moving through a Thursday evening registration, the seniors shared a two-hour time of getting-to-know-you events in the gymnasium and student center. They ended the evening by participating in dormitory prayer groups.

Friday began with a seminar on the admission process and details about applying for financial aid. The students attended two classes of their choice, were welcomed and recognized during chapel, and enjoyed a presidential luncheon with Dr. Matt Pinson. Advisor meetings, campus tours, and a Flames basketball game closed out a long day filled with activities.

Several students commented on the Senior Days event: One said, “Now that I’ve come to Senior Days, I’m so excited to start here next fall.” Another said, “It was awesome! I loved the hospitality and the personal attention I received all weekend long.” A third reflected, ““Everyone was so friendly—students, staff, faculty—everyone.”

The next 2011 Senior Days is set for February 10-12. For more information, contact the Enrollment Management Office at recruit@fwbbc.edu.
